【3】 次の英文を読んで、あとの問いに答えなさい。

The Wright brothers are famous for building the world's first airplane. On December 17, 1903, a plane, called the 'Wright Flyer', flew for the first time. That first *flight was very short. In fact, it was only twelve seconds long. The brothers worked on more plane designs and two years later they built a plane that could fly for more than thirty minutes and travel more than thirty kilometers.

Soon after the Wright brothers first flight, there were airplanes built in other countries. In 1906 and 1907, in France, other airplane makers tested new planes, but they were not as successful as the Wright brothers' plane. In 1908, the Wright brothers took their airplane to Europe to show to people and to sell their design. Airplane companies in Europe and America grew quickly. In 1919, the first airplane with *passengers flew from London to Paris.

By the end of the 1950s, passenger airplanes had new designs. New airplanes had comfortable areas for passengers and better engines. These developments made long-distance passenger air travel possible. People could fly easily between America and Europe. The flight from New York to London, which took fourteen hours in the 1950s, took only eight in the 1960s.

The most *modern airplane built in the 1960s and 1970s was Concorde. This airplane was built by British and French companies and was paid for by the British and French governments. It had a very modern design and ①could fly faster than any other passenger airplane. However, it made a loud noise and was very expensive to use, so only fourteen were built and used to fly passengers, and in 2003 the airplane flew for the last time.

Now, ②the passenger space age is about to begin. Several companies are designing and testing airplanes that can take passengers into space. One company plans to use an airplane that has a spaceship joined to it. Passengers will first travel in this plane, then the spaceship will move away from the airplane and fly into space. The spaceship will return to earth and will be used again and again. The next fifty years look like being very interesting for people interested in airplanes and space travel.

【4】 次の英文を読み、あとの問いに答えなさい。

Keishi and Takumi are first year high school students. They are doing their homework in the school cafeteria.

Keishi: It's 4:00 P.M. I want to go home and play video games.

Takumi: Did you finish writing your history report? Mr. Ito said that we have to hand it to him by 5:00 P.M. today.

Keishi: I have to write one more page, but I'm tired and don't have any more ideas. I want something to drink.

Takumi: I have an energy drink in my bag. Do you want it?

Keishi: (a) Why do you drink energy drinks?

Takumi: Well, I feel great when I drink them. I always have one before I go to basketball practice or take an exam. They wake me up and I can think more clearly.

Keishi: Wow, ①that's amazing. What are the *ingredients?

Takumi: I think that they have sugar, caffeine, vitamins, and some others.

Keishi: Do they taste good?

Takumi: I think so. They're sweet and bubbly.

Keishi: Okay, can I have one?

Takumi: Sure. (b)

Mr. Ito enters the cafeteria.

Mr. Ito: Good afternoon, boys. How are your studies? Wait Takumi, is that another energy drink?

Takumi: Good afternoon, Mr. Ito. This is my third one today.

Mr. Ito: That's not good. Don't you know that too much caffeine is bad for your health?

Takumi: Really? My mother always drinks coffee when she's tired. It has a lot of caffeine too, doesn't it?

Mr. Ito: Yes, but energy drinks have more caffeine than cola, tea, and even more than coffee.

Takumi: Oh, I didn't know that.

Mr. Ito: It's true that caffeine can improve your memory and give you a lot of energy. Some researchers agree that caffeine has many good points, but too much caffeine can cause health problems.

Keishi: (c)

Mr. Ito: According to *The World Health Organization, when people drink too much caffeine, they feel more nervous, get headaches, have heart problems, and they can't sleep well. Because energy drinks have a lot of caffeine, I think they are too strong for younger people.

Keishi: Those things sound (②). I don't want to depend on caffeine. Sorry Takumi, but I don't need this energy drink anymore.

Takumi: No problem. Mr. Ito, can I ask you something? (d)

Mr. Ito: I usually drink water or sleep for about five or ten minutes.

Keishi: Hey, Takumi.

Takumi: OK, let's do that. Thank you, Mr. Ito! I'll be more careful and drink fewer energy drinks from now on.

Mr. Ito: That's a good idea. Good luck with your report.
