(Two students are in a coffee shop.)

Claire: What are you doing?

Miyu : What do you mean?

Claire: Why are you taking a picture of your coffee?

Miyu : I'm going to put the picture on *social media for my friends to see.

Claire: Do you do it a lot?

Miyu : Put pictures on social media? Sure. At least once a day. Sometimes more.

Claire: Are they all pictures of coffee?

Miyu : [ 1 ] Lots of them are pictures of food and drinks, but I also take pictures of places that I go to and sometimes cute clothes that I want to buy. I want my friends to see what I am doing, and I like seeing my friends' pictures. Don't you use social media?

Claire: [ 2 ] I used to use social media, but I stopped.

Miyu : Oh really? Why?

Claire: One reason was that I was not really enjoying activities.

Miyu : What do you mean?

Claire: Well, I think that people do not enjoy activities they are doing because they spend too much time using social media. The best thing about coffee is the taste of the coffee. But these days people want coffee that looks good in a picture. Coffee shops have to make drinks that look cute in pictures, not simply drinks that taste delicious.

Miyu: I'm sure ①they can do both, can't they? They can make delicious coffee that also looks good in a picture.

Claire: Well, it's not just that. I think that people do not really talk to their friends anymore. The best thing about friends is spending time with them, talking and enjoying activities together. Look at everyone in this coffee shop. Many people are not talking to their friends. They're looking at their smartphones.

Miyu : Ah, yes, [ 3 ] However, I don't think that people are rude when they look at their smartphones. I think that is what young people do to communicate with their friends now.

Claire: [ 4 ] But they do not talk to the person with them. They just look at their smartphones!

Miyu : Yes, but they are both doing the same thing. They are sharing pictures with other friends and those friends are looking at the pictures and writing comments about them. Then the friends in the coffee shop talk about those friends and comments, and, in this way, they can enjoy being part of something with more people.

Claire: Well, I don't agree, but I guess I understand. Let's enjoy our coffee now!
